

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

photographs available for publication.

For information contact: Nettie Wild

604-251-0770; carson@smartt.com

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) and Philip Owen, Mayor of Vancouver, in the alleys of Vancouver's downtown eastside.

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary directed by Nettie Wild

File name: "Mayor & Dean 1"

Photo credit: Lincoln Clarkes

Also available in black and white

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) and Mayor Philip Owen, in the alleys of Vancouver's downtown eastside.

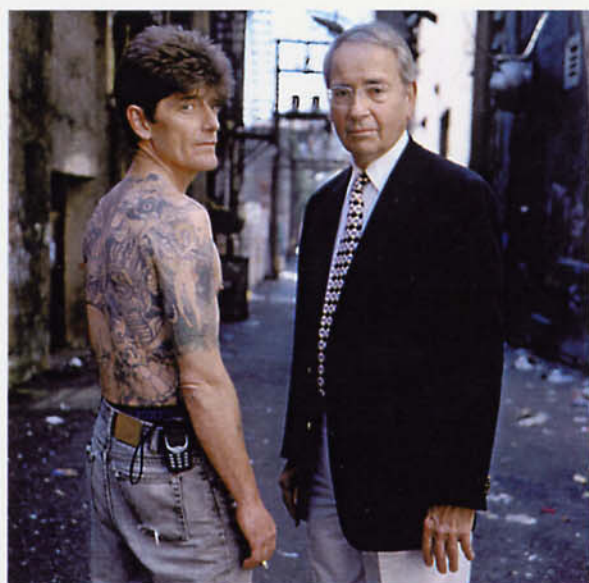

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary directed by Nettie Wild

File name: "Mayor & Dean 2"

Photo credit: Lincoln Clarkes

Also available in black and white

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) and Mayor Philip Owen, in the alleys of Vancouver's downtown eastside.

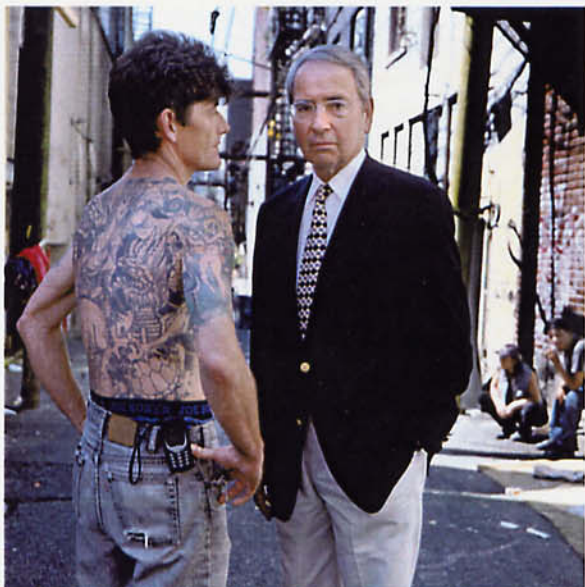

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary directed by Nettie Wild

File name: "Mayor & Dean 3"

Photo credit: Lincoln Clarkes

Also available in black and white

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

photographs available for publication.

For information contact: Nettie Wild

604-251-0770; carson@smarrr.com

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU), in a scene from:

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City
a feature documentary directed by
Nettie Wild

File name: "Dean thinks"

Photo credit: Nettie Wild

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU), in a scene from:

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City
a feature documentary directed by
Nettie Wild

File name: "Dean's tattoos"

Photo credit: Nettie Wild

Dean Wilson and Ann Livingston in a scene from:

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City
a feature documentary directed by
Nettie Wild

File name: "Dean and Ann"

Photo credit: Nettie Wild

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

photographs available for publication.

For information contact: Nettie Wild

604-251-0770; carson@smartt.com

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) leads a demonstration in the streets of Vancouver's downtown eastside.

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary by Nettie Wild

File name: Dean/demo

Photo credit: Elaine Briere

Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) at a demonstration commemorating drug overdose deaths in Vancouver's downtown eastside.

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary by Nettie Wild

File name: Crosses

Photo credit: Elaine Briere

Director Nettie Wild videos Dean Wilson, president of the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU) as he leads a demonstration inside the chambers of Vancouver's city council.

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary by Nettie Wild

File name: Dean & camera

Photo credit: Elaine Briere

Mayor Philip Owen is confronted by demonstrators from the Vancouver Area Network of Drug Users (VANDU).

FIX: The Story of an Addicted City

a feature documentary by Nettie Wild

File name: Mayor & coffin

Photo credit: Elaine Briere